BABCOCK.

End of the Testimony, and a Mo-tion that the Court Direct the Jury to Acquit Overruled.

By American Press Association to the STAR.

St. Louis, Feb. 19.-While waiting yesterday afternoon for the entrance of the Judges, Mr. Storrs and the Government attorneys chatted socially together. The other gentlemen who represented the defense seemed to be in the mood of spirits. At 2:30 o'clock Judges Dillon and Treat took their seats. Judge Dillon said the testimony on both sides being closed, defendant's counsel moved the Court for an instruction to the jury to acquit the defendant.

The case which the Government seeks to make against the defendant is one which largely depends upon circumstantial evidence, while it claims to show that the defendant had knowledge of the conspiracy to defraud the revenue in St. Louis, and that he participated in that conspiracy. The Government has sought to implicate him mainly by the testimony of Everett as to the mailing of letters under circumstances which the counsel for the Government maintained, would authorize the jury, not standing alone, but in connection with the other effects in evidence, that defendant received a $500 bill and it was sent to defendant for guilty purposes, &c. Certain telegraphic dispatches have been introduced to and from the defendant.

The present motion involves the question as to powers of the Court and jury, which is of great importance. Undoubtedly the Court is Judge in criminal cases, as well as civil cases, and the jury are bound to receive and apply the laws expounded by the Court in one class of cases the same as in the other. In deciding upon the present motion it must be assumed that all the evidence in the case is true, and that the witnesses are credible, for if there are questions relating to the credibility of witnesses, or what the evidence proves depends upon the credibility of witnesses or upon the proper deductions to be drawn from the evidence, these are questions not for the Court, but for the jury under advisement of the jury.

The character of such a motion was then fully reviewed and authorities cited defining the duties and responsibilities of the Court and jury, showing that the constitutional province of the jury under instruction from the Court extends to the right to decide upon questions of fact in a weak case as well as in strong cases. It is not, continued the Judge, to be inferred by the jury, from the overruling of this motion or from anything we have said, that the Court expresses any opinion as to the weight or force of the testimony in the case.
The only point we decide is that it is not our right to take the case as it stands from the jury.

At the proper time the Court will instruct the jury as to legal rules, in the light and by the guidance of which they will analyze the evidence before them, and determine the weight to be given to the several parts thereof. The reading of the decision occupied ten minutes, after which some discussion was had as to the arrangement of the final arguments in the case, during which Ex-Judge Porter took occasion to mention the fact that Mr. Storrs had labored incessantly in preparing and conducting the case for the defense. It was finally decided that the opening and closing arguments shall be by the prosecution.
After that the jury about twenty minutes the Court adjourned till 10 o'clock this morning.

Ex-Governor Sheppard and C. C. Sneyder, one of the Private Secretaries to the President, left for Washington last night.

THE BUSY B'S.

Becher, Bowen, Bacon and Bud-dington.

By American Press Association to the STAR.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 19.-At the close of the religious exercises yesterday morning, Deacon Capon, of Boston, introduced a resolution requesting Revs.
Storrs and Buddington to state to the Council what reasons, if any, there were why Plymouth Church had forfeited its claims to the confidence of fellowship.
This resolution, however, was tabled, in order that the counsel might resume its discussions of Mr. Bowen's matters.

Mr. Shearman stated that the Committee had demanded Mr. Bowen to appear, and the resolution inviting Mr.
Bowen to lay his reasons before the Council was sought to be amended so as to read that "Mr. Bowen be invited to appear before the Council to reconcile the difference between his statements." A long discussion then ensued upon the propriety of summoning Mr. Bowen at all, but finally a resolution was carried inviting him to appear before the Council at 7 o'clock last evening.

Deacon Capon's resolution was discussed, and referred to the Committee on the sixth question.

Mr. Fessenden repeated his question of Thursday, whether the pastor was willing to have the interview between Dr. Storrs and himself made public, or that he should make public all that they know about him.

Mr. Becher, at this, promptly stopped the front, and said he would make his answer first. He knew of no interview about which such a question could be asked. "And now," he said, "I wish to hear the other part of the question, at whether I am willing that Dr. Storrs and Dr. Buddington should state anything that they know, any facts. I should like to know how much longer a man need be at the focus of a polar microscope, with the sun in the heavens concentrated on him for six months, and every day that could be raked from the North pole to the South pole, and around the earth, forty times circled, raked up and brought back. How much longer does a man want to have his willingness to have the truth come out vindicated, to be put at that point. If there is a man on earth that has anything to say to my detriment, I here and now challenge him to say it.

[Cries of "good, good," and loud applause.] "Go farther than that. If there be any angel of good more precious or omnipotent, I challenge him to say aught.
I go beyond that, and in the name of our common Redeemer, and before Him who shall judge you and me, I challenge the truth from God himself." [Great applause.]

He concluded by saying:

"I don't look with any hope to any Council or tribunal. I think there is hope in the grave and beyond; but as for me, I expect to walk with a clouded head, not understood, until I go to heaven, and that is not far off-that is not far away, and am content to bear just that lot that my dear Lord has put on me. He knows what is best. I have accepted, though the natural man rebels once in a while and bubbles out, yet grace in the nature puts it down. But I am content to walk so. All my sorrow is that the preciousness of the Gospel, which has been given me to preach, is hindered somewhat by this trouble. But to work for Christ and save men is my calling, and not to vindicate myself."

[Applause.]

After recess a resolution was adopted inviting Revs. Storrs and Buddington to come before the Council with any facts in their possession touching the questions in discussion. These gentlemen, however, informed the committee, through Dr. Bacon, that they had nothing to communicate to the Council.

At the evening session the hall was crowded, it being estimated that there were three thousand people present.

Mr. Bowen was called, and said it was H. B. Claflin that told him that he would not be called by the Committee. Mr.
Bowen answered several questions of the Council, and then left the stand.
Mr. Claflin was then examined at length, and Council adjourned.
